

Special Registration Next Saturday

The special registration which will be held in the county clerk's office on Saturday will be for those who have legitimate excuses for not being registered and for those attaining their majority since last registration.

All voters of legal age, who have resided in the state one year, the county six months and the precinct sixty days, who failed to register at the last regular registration on account of the following reason may obtain a certificate at the county clerk's office:

1. Necessarily absent from the city.

2. Ill and unable to attend the place of registration.

3. Was unable to attend the place of registration on account of the sickness of a member of his family.

Only those who are registered as Democrats, and who voted as Democrats in the last election will be permitted to participate in the Democratic primary.

LOST—Three letters, unopened on streets here. Finder please return to W. C. Hamilton.

READ THE ADVERTISING PAGES

In the advertising columns of The Mt. Sterling Advocate you will find what you want, and where to get it most economically. Don't stop there. The values offered may be special for the day. There'll be others too, every day, but when you see offered the thing you want it should be bought while the opportunity is yours. Famous Boys' Band Here Monday Night

The famous boys' band from the Odd Fellows' Home at Lexington, will give a concert at the High School Auditorium in this city Monday night, July 25th, beginning at 8 o'clock. There will be no admission charged and everyone is invited. All members of the lodge are requested to meet at the hall at 7:30 and go in a body to the school building.

This band is accompanied by a noted speaker of the order and is making a tour of the state in the interest of the home. There will be music, recitations and songs—an entertainment for both young and old. These young people will present a program of exceptional merit and interest, one that has attracted the attention of the whole state. Everybody is cordially invited, and remember, ADMISSION IS FREE.

Jockey Meehan Injured at Track

In the second race for three-year-olds in a five furlong race "Our Alice" got into a pocket and the rider, B. Meehan, of Louisville, was thrown to the track and painfully injured. His lower limbs were cut in the fall and he also sustained slight bruises about the face and body. He had sufficiently recovered from the shock so as to be removed to his home today. Mrs. Meehan was here with her husband and accompanied him to their home. The Red Cross organization have quarters at the Fair Grounds and in their care Mr. Meehan was placed and received attention. The officers of the Fair company were quick in thought and sent Dr. Keller Johnson to administer to the injured man. The escape from death was something wonderful, for Meehan fell at full speed. The feet of his horse going at full speed.

Wiedemans Here Next Sunday

The strong Wiedeman Baseball team, of Newport, Ky., that so decisively defeated the local team here several weeks ago, will be the attraction at the local park Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Mt. Sterling team will present one of the strongest lineups of the season and they will do everything in their power to get revenge for the stinging defeat previously handed them. The game promises to be a battle royal from the start and if you want to see a REAL contest you are urged to be present next Sunday afternoon at Fair Grounds Park.

NEXT MONDAY NIGHT OFFERS LAST CHANCE FOR TRIPLE VOTES

Contestants Should Turn in Every Subscription Possible Before 6 O'clock Next Monday Night, July 25th, in Order to Secure Three Times the Usual Number of Votes on Subscriptions.

SEND A SUBSCRIPTION TODAY

Don't Let Your Favorite Lose for Lack of the Votes Your Subscription or Renewal Would Bring

Concerned only with the thought of getting votes—and plenty of them—that victory and an automobile will be theirs, contestants in the big prize race are hourly increasing their vigorous pace, and gaining such remarkable momentum as time slips by that the short remaining period of nine days until the close will see this section of Kentucky in a turmoil of excitement, grimly determined that their favorite candidates will be the ones upon whom honor will be bestowed.

With $1,500 in prizes hanging in the balance, all the candidates are bending every effort to win. With the shortness of time acting as a quickening impulse and the magnificent prizes spurring them on to be the first to claim them, these candidates are forging ahead like a mighty army that sweeps everything before it.

But it takes courage to maintain the pace that this onrush is setting. Courage—yes, and tenacity. Sticking through until the finish and gaining every advantage that opens itself, is what will bring many of the candidates out on top.

The hour is important now. And so is every subscription. The only difference between having an automobile and not having one is—votes. The present Triple Vote Offer, which is in force until next Monday night, allows a liberal addition in votes on every subscription that is secured. 6 P. M., Monday night is positively the last chance to take advantage of the big triple vote offer, and by taking full advantage of it, an automobile may be plucked which otherwise would be out of reach.

Every subscription is valuable now and candidates should bend every energy to secure them. Who knows but what one or two subscriptions may separate the candidates in the race for the automobile, and every subscription secured lessens the chances of defeat.

There are a number of quiet energetic workers in the campaign who have not been saying much, but have been working with an object in view. They are the "dark horses" that bear watching. They add uncertainty to the outcome. They have not been heralding their work, but instead, have been adding to their vote reserve steadily, and when the final count is over it may bring some surprises.

There are 16 chances to win a prize, and one will mean a Ford Sedan. From present indications, there will be a very narrow margin separating the leading candidates at the close. Plan at night for the morning, and make every hour until the final one a source of productivity. All this section of Kentucky is watching with interest at fever heat; the majority of them are mulling strong for their favorite. The immensity of this campaign becomes more impressive each day. And every one of the next nine days should be a "full speed ahead."

Last Chance—Triple Votes

The importance of securing every subscription possible between now and next Monday night cannot be too strongly emphasized for in addition to the closing of the big club vote and prize ballot offer, it will be your last chance to secure Triple Votes.

Until 6 P. M., next Monday night—Triple Votes—just three times the regular schedule—will be given on both old and new subscriptions. This is positively the LAST CHANCE to secure triple votes. After Monday night only double votes will be given on subscriptions. See the regular schedule of votes below and remember—you get three times this number if you turn in your subscriptions before 6 o'clock next Monday night, July 25th.

Value of Votes

	Old	New
10 years	$15.00	28,400
8 years	12.00	21,600
5 years	7.50	12,800
4 years	6.00	9,600
3 years	4.50	7,200
2 years	3.00	4,400
1 year	1.50	1,800

Where a new one-year subscription now brings 10,800 votes, after Monday night, you will only receive 7,200 votes on the same subscription. Old subscriptions and larger subscriptions.

Fire Insurance on Advocate Prize Car

Through the courtesy of the Hoffman Insurance Agency, the Ford Sedan, offered as First Grand Prize in the Advocate's Prize Race, will be insured against fire and theft Free of Charge for one year.

This is a personal gift on the part of this well known agency to the winning candidate, who is requested to call at their office for the policy after the judges have decided the winner.

Every owner of an automobile is using good common sense when he has his car insured. So many cars and parts of cars are stolen and there are so many chances for fire, that it is the height of folly for anyone to fail to protect their investment in a car.

FINE LOT OF LAMBS

G. W. Maze has just purchased from a Menefee county farmer 50 head of choice lambs, paying for them $5.00 per cwt.

Mr. Maze also purchased 50 head of 200-lb hogs at $8.00 per hundred.

New Leaders in Big Prize Race Today

Contestants Who Were Down on the List Are Beginning to Forge to the Front.—Interest is at Fever Heat as Closing Date Draws Near.

This was a day of surprises in the Advocate's big prize race for today's count shows nearly an entirely new list of leaders.

Miss Eleanor Bowen jumps from eighth position in District No. 2, to that of leader, and Chas. Scott Sanderson also takes first position instead of eighth in his district. These two candidates share the honors of leading the race today.

Mazola Wins Derby At Long Odds

The opening day of the Montgomery County Fair in this city yesterday was the most auspicious in the history of the association and a record-breaking first day's crowd was in attendance.

The feature of the opening day was the Mt. Sterling Derby, a running race of one and one-sixteenth miles for three-year-olds and upward. The race was between Miss Patty and Mazola and in the stretch run Mazola proved the better of the two, winning by a neck, and rewarding her backers to the tune of $47.40 to $2. The Cullen Bon was third, and, after a slow start, ran a splendid race. There were ten starters in this event and it took much time to get them off, the favorites, Jetsam and the J. M. Hubbard entry, finishing outside of the money. This was undoubtedly the best bunch of runners that ever faced a barrier in this city and there was much interest centered in the event.

In the 2:18 pacing race Prince Regal was returned the winner after losing the first heat to Albert O., owned by P. L. Hensley, of this city. The 2:18 trot was easy for Bean Bros., Donna Cochita winning in straight heats with Peter Bean, owned by the same parties, finishing second to his stablemate, Northern Boy was third.

In the first running race on the card at five furlongs, Mayville, at odds of almost 3 to 1, was returned the winner, with Madame Byng second and Marty Lou third.

The second running race at the same distance was won by the favorite, Grace Minard, which paid $2.80 to each $2 ticket. Peggy Martin was second.

In the ring for saddle horses the Ralls entry, of Bourbon county, was returned the winner, with Graham, from Clark, second and Robertson, Montgomery, third.

The Floral Hall, which is in charge of Mrs. B. G. Nunneley, has the largest number of entries ever exhibited and proved quite popular with the large crowd.

The Midway is undoubtedly the largest and best ever in Mt. Sterling and is drawing large crowds who are highly pleased with the clean, high-class attractions offered.

Present for the opening day were about 200 visitors from Lexington, who were here in the interest of the Blue Grass Fair and assured our people that a hearty welcome awaits them in the Blue Grass capital.

The program for today and the rest of the week is a most excellent one and record-breaking crowds are expected to be in attendance each day.

Clyde Hockaday Robbed

Clyde Hockaday, manager of the Western Union Telegraph offices in this city, was the victim of pickpockets while attending the Midway Tuesday night, and was robbed of $390. Young Hockaday at once reported the theft to the police, who are at work on the case.

Burley Tobacco Marketing News

Organization of the proposed co-operative marketing association of burley tobacco growers' proceeded rapidly last week, and at present 22 counties have organizations working or ready to work in the interest of the campaign to obtain signatures to the contract.

Shelby county has obtained the largest number of pounds, having signed up one-fourth of the total average production of the county under the leadership of Mr. B. A. Thomas. Carroll County has the largest percentage of production, about 60 per cent. Bath county has signed up 22 per cent of its production in the two first meetings. Madison, Bourbon, Bath and Shelby counties have active organizations, which are making daily reports of progress to the headquarters. Active sign-up work is in progress only in about eight counties, but it will be started in all this week.

The counties in which organizations have been formed are Carroll, Trimble, Gallatin, Owen, Franklin, Shelby, Anderson, Nelson, Washington, Marion, Lincoln, Garrard, Madison, Clark, Bath, Mason, Harrison, Bourbon, Scott, Jessamine, Fayette and Switzerland and Ohio counties in Indiana.

Meetings have been scheduled for several counties outside the central bluegrass district and the organization will be extended to these sections as quickly as possible. Jessamine and Bourbon counties next week will launch an intensive drive to make a house to house canvass of every grower. The schedule of meetings for this week is as follows: Monday, Georgetown and Switzer; Tuesday, Millersburg; Thursday, Carlisle; Friday, Flemingsburg; Saturday, Nicholasville and New Castle. R. M. Barker, of Carrollton, will extend organizations to remaining Indiana counties which produce burley tobacco this week. He reports that all counties there are receptive of the co-operative movement. The organization committee has now been increased to forty-seven.

Plenty of Business For Men Who Hustle

Steady improvement in business conditions was predicted by Josiah Kirby, of Cleveland, in an address at the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards in Chicago.

"We in America cannot now experience a sustained depression," he said. "All sustained depressions have for their background an overproduction of finished product and a shortage of natural wealth. Conditions at present are exactly reversed."

"We have in America a shortage of finished products and an abundant supply of natural wealth in the form of raw materials, and the purchasing power of our people is without end."

"Even now, in the so-called dull period, business is so far ahead of 1914 as to make comparisons ridiculous. Current freight car loadings are running only about fifteen per cent less than a year ago; business failures, never abnormally high, are decreasing both in number and amount of liability, and in almost every line of endeavor business is available to the man who will trade his wishbone for a backbone and go out and get it."

Labor lost in wages, because of the inactivity in the building trades, has reached three billion dollars in 1921, Daniel Crawford, Jr., building contractor, of Philadelphia, declared in a speech.

In the recent flood disaster in Pueblo the telephone girls employed in the central exchange stuck heroically to their posts, warning subscribers far and near of their danger, until the rising waters cut off all connections.

A bottle blowing machine invented in Germany has a capacity of 2,000 bottles an hour.

tions will be reduced in value in the same proportion.

150,000 Extra Votes

Until next Monday night, 150,000 extra votes will be given free on each and every "Club of $15" worth of new subscriptions turned in for or by a candidate. All new subscriptions count on this offer and contestants may secure as many clubs as they can.

Prize Ballot Offer

In addition to the offers mentioned above, fifteen prize ballots, the first for 1,000,000 Extra Votes, the second for 950,000 Extra Votes and so on down will be given to the fifteen candidates who turn in the greatest amount of both old and new subscriptions during the period closing 6 P. M., next Monday, July 25th.

Subscriptions sent by mail will be counted and accepted on the above offers if the envelope containing the same is postmarked not later than 6 P. M., July 25th.

Friends—You Are Needed

Friends, relatives and acquaintances, it is up to you. Are you going to let your favorite lose an automobile just for the lack of a few subscriptions? But still she may lose by a few thousand votes, which she might as well have had, if you had stood by her. Let every father, brother, sister, aunt, uncle, friend and acquaintance put forth their active efforts in the next nine days in behalf of their favorite, for what you do now will probably spell SUCCESS or DEFEAT for your candidate. Drop everything if need be, to make your favorite a winner. Do not let any one wrest the honor and glory away from her. Don't let vain regrets possess you when the judges have made their final count, but make sure that if your favorite loses you will have at least the satisfaction of knowing that you have done all that you possibly could do. A little help given your favorite now is worth all the consolations in the world after the contest is over.

Don't Be Overconfident

Overconfidence has lost many and many a big prize in campaigns of this kind and for any candidate to let up in their efforts at this stage of the race would almost spell certain defeat. Just remember, it is much better to have a surplus of votes than not quite enough—so stick to the finish and be a winner at all hazards.

And above all things, don't let your competitor bluff you out. In striving to attain these valuable prizes you should not lose sight of the fact that others are striving to attain the same end. If you are going well, you are naturally a stumbling block in the way of some other candidate. She thinks that with you out of the way, victory would be an easy thing for her. Therefore, she does all in her power to cause you to give up the fight. Perhaps when she meets you upon the street she proceeds to tell you of all the votes she has, with the direct thought of discouraging you. Perhaps she has friends to tell you of the splendid luck she is having and how she has so many votes in view that it would be folly to compete with her. All this with the single thought of causing you to lose heart in the battle. You should beware of this and give little heed to all the tales you hear. Probably, you have, in reality, just as many if not more votes than she has. Just remember the old saying, "Don't believe anything you hear and only half you see." Keep this in mind and things will look different to you.

About the Closing

Many people, judging by the rumors and gossip, have an entirely erroneous idea as to the closing of the campaign and are under the impression that it is possible for some person to have inside knowledge which will enable them to turn in enough subscriptions to win out on the last day of the campaign. Such is not the case, however. Under the system which the contest is conducted, it is impossible for anyone—even the manager—to tell how many votes it will take to win.

To insure absolute fairness the management has adopted the following precautions to govern the closing days of the campaign. We ask all contestants to carefully read the following details and be sure they fully understand them. If there is any point that is not clear to you, call the campaign manager at once. We should dislike very much to have some contestant lose out because she failed to understand the closing details.

The campaign manager will make his final count at 1 P. M., Thursday, July 28th, for that day's paper, and all votes clipped from the paper must be deposited in the ballot box before that hour.

Immediately after he makes his final count the ballot box will be locked and sealed and the key turned over to the judges, who will be selected from prominent men in this section. The final few days' voting will be entirely in their charge. So you can rest assured that any votes you place in the ballot box after 1 P. M., next Thursday will not be seen by anyone until the judges open the box after the contest is all over and commence the work of counting the votes.

It is absolutely impossible for anyone to find out how many votes or subscriptions a candidate has for no one knows—not even the campaign manager. It will be blind voting the last two and one-half days, and it can readily be seen that no person is in a position to furnish anyone with tips that would give one candidate an advantage over another. The entire aim of the management of the Mt. Sterling Advocate and the campaign department is to safeguard the interests of all candidates so there will be no possibility of anything but a square deal to all. It is the contestants who keep up a vigorous campaign until the end that will have the best chance.

Closing Details

The Advocate's big Prize Campaign, which has been the talk of this section for several weeks past, will come to a close promptly at 8 o'clock Saturday night, July 30th.

Subscriptions will be accepted from contestants and their friends, who are inside of The Advocate Office at that hour, but no one will be allowed to enter thereafter to turn in votes or subscriptions. So make sure you are on time, for if you arrive after the closing hour your votes and subscriptions will be of no avail.

Send back all reserve votes, so they will reach the campaign department before 8 P. M., July 30th. If you send them after 1 P. M., on Thursday, July 28th, they will be deposited in the ballot box to your credit and will only be counted by the judges after the campaign closes. If you are coming to Mt. Sterling on the closing day it is advisable to deposit the reserve votes in the ballot box yourself.

By reserve votes we mean the ballots which have been issued on subscriptions, club offers, etc., and mailed back to you. Seal vote ballots in envelopes bearing your name before depositing in the ballot box. Place about 25 ballots or less in each envelope so they will go through the slot in the ballot box.

Don't take any chance of the mail being delayed—it may cause you to lose a prize if you do. Mail in plenty of time so they will reach us before the closing hour of the campaign. All votes and subscriptions—no matter what time mailed—must reach us before the closing hour of the campaign in order to be counted.

Important—Do not deposit the 10-cent coupons and store orders, given on purchases at several of the stores, in the ballot box after 1 P. M., Thursday, July 28th. Bring them to the campaign department and exchange for a vote certificate to deposit in the ballot box. Otherwise, they will not be counted.

WARNING

- The campaign manager issues a warning that he will accept no checks for subscriptions (unless certified) on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 28th, 29th and 30th—the last three days of the campaign. If you take checks for subscriptions, have them made payable to yourself and convert into cash before making the final settlement.

Votes are positively not transferable and they will not be sold. They can only be secured on subscriptions and on store purchases. When a contestant drops out of the race, she loses all votes to her credit. Every ballot must bear the name of some candidate. Do not ask to have ballots issued in blank, for we will not do so. Scratched, torn or altered ballots will be promptly discarded.

Be sure to have the subscriptions in proper shape to hand into the campaign department. Have the name, address and amount of the subscription written plainly on the regular campaign receipt. If you have no receipt book, ask the campaign manager for them. And be sure you have your receipt filled out before you come to the office.

Prize ballots for all four periods will be given to the contestants at 6 P. M., July 30th, or if they are not present will be deposited into the ballot box in time to be counted in the final count.

If any of the candidates are not satisfied with the judges we select and whose names will be announced next week, we will allow each candidate to appoint one representative to be present when the final count is made.

Don't slack up now—from present indications it is going to be a neck-and-neck race right up until the closing hour and just a few subscriptions—possibly those you secure the last few days—may be the ones that will win the very prize you most desire.

Subscriptions will be accepted right up until the closing hour of the campaign.

Remember, if there is any point about the closing details that you don't understand—ask for further information at once.

Prizes Awarded July 30th

Following is a complete list of the prizes which will be awarded to the successful candidates on Saturday, July 30th. As practically all the contestants have been doing such good work and trying so hard to win the management has decided to add several prizes to this list this week in order that all may have a better chance to win. See the list of prizes below:

LAST NOTICE

Is a headline of an advertisement that appears in this issue, and we join with the Kentucky Utilities Company in urging the necessity of using just as little water as possible. Use it just as you did when you carried two buckets morning and evening to the spring a mile away. Unless we do it will become necessary to cut off the home supply. Won't you please obey this notice. Remember if it becomes necessary to cut off home consumption it will also stop the supply in the making of ice.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Halsey and son, George, of near Dayton, Ohio, are visiting relatives here. Mr. Halsey says they are dry, but not like this county.

Dr. J. T. Ricketts is at home from Somerset, where he has been connected with business the last few months.

Surprise parties seem to be the fad among the young folks in the community.

Mr. David Rose, of Hazel Green, was a court day visitor in the county.

Miss Ruby McCormick, of Ohio, is visiting friends and relatives in the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mayes will return home Saturday from Springfield, where Mrs. Mayes has finished teaching a summer school.

Wm. Ricketts and James Moss were among a fishing party on Red River this week.

John McDonald bought of Ray Moss, agent, 16 fat 1,100-lb steers this week at $6 per 100.

Miss Pink Ricketts will return this week from Knoxville, Tenn.

Ms Geo. Coats left for her home in Ohio county, Thursday, after a

TRIP TO PALESTINE

James W. Hon, this county, and S. W. Joiner, of Winchester, leave tomorrow for a trip to the Orient, the chief point being Palestine. They sail from New York July 26th on the Aquitance for Southampton, England, thence to London, thence to Paris, France, to Rome, to Spria, to Damascus, to the south through Palestine to Jerusalem, Cairo, Alexandria, returning from there to New York about the middle of October.

Charles E. Duff is at his home confined to his bed by direction of the attending physician.

GET BUSY

Thomas A. Edison said something the other day of far more interest to salesmen than his widely-discussed List of Questions. It goes as follows:

"I have been through five depressions during my business life. They all act alike. This latest one acts exactly like all the rest. The men, who if business fell off 66 per cent increased their selling effort 75 per cent, managed to pull through as if there was no depression, and the efforts of such men tend to shorten the periods of depression."

Imagine what would happen in the business world if every advertising director, every manager, every space salesman should read the above message and believe it and start out to sell it!

To Correspondents

Please do not send unimportant items, such as visits between your neighbors. Personals of people visiting from other counties or where home people go to another county are always wanted. Also send all items such as deaths, births, marriages, accidents, fires, burglaries, land sales, live stock sales, changes of firms, church services, school and public meetings, etc. If a death or other important item occurs after you have mailed your correspondence call phone 74 and we will write the item in the office after learning the particulars. We appreciate your good work in sending in items, but it will improve your department as well as the paper in general if the above rules are followed.

Send all correspondence so it will reach us on Wednesday of each week.

Correspondents wanted in all parts of this and surrounding counties. If you wish to be a correspondent, write the editor.

CUSTER'S LAST STAND MAKES BIG FILM PRODUCTION

The finest motion picture of the year and one of the most artistic and fascinating contributions ever made to the screen is "Bob Hampton of Placer," produced and directed by Marshall Neilan, will be shown at the Tabb Theatre Wednesday.

The production is adapted from the Randall Parrish story of the same name. It not only tells a delightful story of love and adventure, but also immortalizes on the screen one of the most picturesque chapters of American history.

The undying fame which General Custer won in his last stand against the Sioux Tribes under Sitting Bull is given a new luster in this screen version, which reproduces the Battle of the Little Big Horn.

And through it all runs an absorbing plot, interpreted by an exceptional cast. James Kirkwood plays the title role, and Marjorit Daw has the feminine lead. Pat O'Malley has the part of a gallant and lovelorn officer of Custer's staff. And the smiling and be-freckled countenance of Master Wesley

New Prices on Titan and International Tractors Now Lowest Ever Quoted

EFFECTIVE immediately, we make another big reduction in the prices of Titan and International tractors. These reductions wipe out all former advances and place Titan and International tractors at the lowest prices at which they have ever been sold.

International 8-16

This price is about one-fourth less than the price at which the 8-16 sold prior to March of this year. The new figure is the lowest at which it was ever sold. The new price includes all the necessary equipment—platform, fenders, governor, belt pulley—features which must be paid for extra on some tractors.

Titan 10-20

This is the lowest price ever quoted on the Titan, considering the equipment now included (formerly sold extra). Up to March of this year the price was $1,200—today it is $900. At this figure the Titan 3-plow tractor is the best value in the farm power field.

The International 15-30 has been reduced to $1,750—lower than it has ever been before. The man who needs a 4-plow tractor cannot find a better investment than the 15-30 at this price. (All prices f. o. b. Chicago.)

Considering quality, power, equipment, and the service which follows every machine, Titan and International tractors at these new low prices are unquestionably the best buy in the tractor market.

As these prices have been made regardless of manufacturing costs, we do not guarantee to maintain them.

These prices certainly justify the immediate purchase of a tractor. Put it at the horse-killing work of hot weather plowing, and your fall and winter belt work.

See our tractor dealer for full information on deliveries and terms.

Produce Review

Hot weather throughout producing sections has resulted in a decreased production of butter, but despite this a larger quantity is reaching the markets than is required for current consumption. This surplus is being placed in storage.

The United States Department of Agriculture reports a comparative holding in storage July 1 as follows:

1921, 63,750,000 pounds; 1920, 52,526,000 pounds.
Excess, 11,224,000 pounds.
Eggs are showing the effect of hot weather and markets generally ruled lower at the end of the week.

The Department of Agriculture reports comparative holdings in storage July 1 as follows:

1921, 7,450,000 cases; 1920, 6,747,000 cases.
Excess, 703,000 cases.

A VISIT TO COLDSTREAM FARM.

By Edward O'Fallon, Jr.

The announcement of a special swine sale at Coldstream Farm, set for the 16th day of August, reminded the writer of a visit he had been promising himself to this beautiful Blue Grass home of the Duroc and the Holstein.

A magnificently located and improved tract of some 1,500 acres, Coldstream stretches away along Newtown Pike Road three miles outside of Lexington. As one passes through the imposing entrance, he reads: "Visitors Welcome." As he departs by the flower-flanked drive, the words, "Come Again," bid him a cordial adieu.

Coldstream was once home to the immortal Hanover and other famous race horses. Since the property was acquired by Mr. C. B. Shaffer, its fertile acres, for the most part, have been transformed into a veritable Eden for the Duroc and Holstein.

Under the direction of General Superintendent F. O. Bible, spacious, ultra-modern buildings and enclosures for stock, dairying and implements, and dwellings for employees and their families, (twenty of the latter in all,) have sprung up. The former include the enormous cow-barn which stands adjacent to Mr. Bible's office. Tons of feed are stored in the loft of this building, and below are quarters for a hundred head of milch stock; their progeny and the two noble heads of the herd, King Pontiac Hengerveld Fayne, and the promising three-year-old sire, King Segis Korndyke Pontiac Pet.

Within these walls of buff-colored brick that rest on a concrete base of gray, effectively relieved by red terra-cotta gables, also may be seen, luxuriating in her special box stall, Rolo Mercena De Kol, holder of the world's records, among which is that of being the first and only cow in the world to produce 200 pounds of butter in thirty days.

Impressed as he was by these features and the magnificence of the property as a whole, the writer, however, traveling about the place by auto mobile on its twelve miles of private driveways, with his mind on the importance of the coming swine sale, naturally was most interested in the massive sons and daughters of Tax-

Ironing Made Simple
by Drying Smoothly

Ironing is one of the disagreeable hot weather tasks of the housewife that can be made easier by drying some of the pieces smoothly and thereby dispensing with the ironing of them, according to home economics specialists in the College of Agriculture. Many flat pieces such as sheets, pillow cases and towels, if hung on the line carefully, will dry smooth and when taken down will need to be only neatly folded. This practice also is much more sanitary than ironing and helps the pieces retain the fresh fragrance of the sunshine and out-of-doors.

Much ironing can be saved by making children's dresses and older persons' undergarments out of such materials as crepe. All that is necessary to complete the laundering of these is to hang them on the line and allow them to dry smoothly. White clothing is recommended as the best material for clothes during the summer not only because it is cooler, but also because it is easier to launder and does not require the care in laundering and drying that colored clothing does.

The use of paper napkins, oil-cloth or heavy doilies, in place of the usual table linen, is another means of saving ironing since these simple necessities do not require the care and attention that the more elaborate table linens do.

Where there are many flat pieces to be ironed the purchase of a mangle is the simplest and most efficient method of making the summer laundry work easier. The damp clothes may be folded and pressed between the rollers which are heated with gas, gasoline or electricity.

For these pieces that cannot be ironed with the mangle there are many kinds of irons on the market that are self-heated, and do away with heating up the kitchen range. The most commonly used and most satisfactory of these is the electric iron. The gas iron also has been found to give satisfactory results as well as those which are heated by denatured alcohol and gasoline.

The gasoline iron has been found especially satisfactory and is highly recommended by those who have used it. The gasoline is generated into gas which is burned to heat the iron. Best results are obtained by straining the gasoline before using it. A good iron of this type is safe and easily regulated to any heat desired.

payers Model, the greatest Duroc Boar in the world, and Walts Great Top Col. —a young boar, standing, as a senior yearling, 44 inches high on a 10-inch bone, with 83 inches, over his back, between his eyes and the root of his tail, and weighing close to 1,000 pounds, not to mention several other sires of extraordinary merit.

Primarily, it is to be understood, Coldstream was not acquired by Mr. Shaffer for the purpose of making money. Rather, it is the instrument by means of which he aims to serve the farmer and breeder of Kentucky on the side of their swine and dairy stock—better hogs and milch cows throughout the State is the main object of those responsible for the work that is being accomplished on the place today.

As witness that, in view of present conditions, the August sale, considered strictly on its merits as a business venture, undoubtedly will prove to be unprofitable to Coldstream. It cannot reasonably be expected—and, indeed, it is not—that the animals to be auctioned will bring prices nearly approximating their true value. The object of this sale is, therefore, right in line with the main purpose of the farm as stated above.

The actual and material gainers will be the farmers and breeders who attend and purchase stock. The sale will be for Kentuckians exclusively; it remains for Kentuckians to make the most of it.

Probably the auctioneer will offer no single animal from the choice lot of pure breeds to be sold that weighs less than 500 pounds; and all the sows have been bred for early September farrowing—most of them to Walts Great Top Colonel.

Moreover, we are permitted to say that terms will be arranged where purchasers who can furnish satisfactory bank references so desire.

To those who love fine livestock and an admirable habitation for them, the writer, in conclusion, suggests a visit to Coldstream Farm. His best word to the farmer and breeder of Kentucky is: Remember the date of the swine sale—August 16th—and by all means arrange to attend it.

Hydraulic Ram Will Solve Water Problem

On many Kentucky farms where there are good springs a hydraulic ram can be installed at a fairly low cost to solve the problem of obtaining water easily at the place where it is needed, according to specialists in the farm engineering department of the College of Agriculture. In order to assist farmers who are interested in installing such an appliance the farm engineering department of the College of Agriculture is prepared to give detailed information on request. Before information concerning the installation of hydraulic rams can be given it is necessary to know the fall of the water in feet from spring to ram, the number of gallons of water which flow from the spring each minute, the elevation or height in feet the water is to be lifted, the length of the drive pipe and the length in feet of the discharge pipe. This information should be included when inquiring about hydraulic rams.

The fall of the water should be measured as the vertical distance from the surface of the water in the supply or spring to the proposed level of the ram. This fall should not be less than two feet. There should be one foot of fall for each five to ten feet of elevation which is the vertical distance from the ram to the point of discharge.

The number of gallons of water which flow from the spring each minute may be measured by timing how long it takes to fill a three-gallon bucket. The elevation or the height in feet should be measured as the vertical distance above the ram at which the water is to be discharged. The drive pipe should not be shorter than five times the fall to the ram.

Demands Baring
of Refund Plans

Secretary A. W. Mellon discussed last week before the Senate Finance Committee the Administration Bill to grant blanket powers to the Treasury in refunding allied debts.

President Warren G. Harding asked prompt action on the bill in his address to the Senate, but the committee decided to await Mr. Mellon's additional statement.

Opposition which has arisen to the proposal to authorize acceptance of securities of other than debtor nations is expected to be taken up by the committee as some Senators have contended that this would authorize acceptance of German reparations bonds in exchange for obligations of the allied nations.

Senator William E. Borah, Republican, Idaho, read in the Senate a report from the London Times saying it was proposed to postpone payment of interest on the British debt to the United States for fifteen years.

He asked for information from members of the Finance Committee, and Senator Reed Smoot, Republican, Utah, said he knew of no such agreement or understanding, but that demand for immediate payment of interest charges would be disastrous not only to Europe, but to American commerce.

Mr. Borah warned that it would be necessary for those behind the refunding bill to say what they proposed to do before they could get the measure through the Senate.

Three Forms of Lime
May be Used on Soils

There are three forms of lime, which can be used to advantage on the soils of the State of Kentucky, according to members of the soils and crops department of the College of Agriculture. The first is fresh burned lime, the second hydrated or water-slacked lime, and the third carbonated lime or ordinary limestone. It requires 56 pounds of the burned lime or 74 pounds of the hydrated lime to do as much good as the 100 pounds of the limestone, according to specialists. Where it is necessary to haul long distances it may pay to use the burned lime. If 1,120 pounds of this form can be delivered cheaper than 2,000 pounds of finely ground limestone, then it should be used.

There is no difference in the effectiveness of the three forms, according to the specialists. Fresh burned lime should not be applied to green plants and furthermore is unpleasant to handle. It costs more a ton than the ground limestone, which is usually to be preferred. A farmer who has limestone on his own farm can usually get it crushed for approximately $1.00 a ton. This makes it an economical form to use.

Ashes sometimes may be obtained for the hauling and since they are one-third to one-half lime and contain a small amount of phosphorus and considerable potash they are worth hauling as a substitute for limestone. Enough wood ashes may be used to sweeten the soil without danger.

In general the kind of lime to use is that which is easiest to obtain and most economical. Ordinarily this will be the finely-ground limestone. The pure limestone can be used anywhere, in any amount, and at any time, without danger to ordinary farm crops.

Frenchman Uses Water to Light House

Prof. Colardeau, head of the physics department in a French university, lights his house with electricity made by the flow of water from an ordinary faucet. Describing his method to the Académie des Sciences in Paris recently he said that if the water had its source 236 feet higher than the faucet, a flow of one quart per second would furnish one-horse power, according to the New York World.

Prof. Colardeau mounted a water turbine on the faucet, geared this to a dynamo which sent its electric current into a storage battery. From this he obtained enough current to light a 500 candle power lamp and several lamps that vary between ten and twenty candle power.

It is not necessary that the faucet flow all the time. The ordinary use of a kitchen faucet is enough, for the turbine may be installed in such a way that the water can be used after passing through it and each time the faucet is turned on the turbine sets the dynamo going and the storage battery accumulates the electricity for use as needed.

Farm and Home News From Over Kentucky

Nelson county farmers are becoming interested in the possibilities of lime and phosphate for increasing their crop yields, according to a report of County Agent C. L. Hill. Twelve of them have signed their intention of applying such fertilizer this fall and will conduct demonstrations in co-operation with the county agent.

Plans are being made by Washington county farm boys in co-operation with County Agent H. R. Cottrell, to organize a boys' livestock judging team from that county to take part in the junior livestock judging contest to be held at the State Fair, September 12 to 17.

The exhibit of calves by the boys and girls who are members of the Christian county calf club is expected to be one of the features of the fair to be held in that county this fall, according to a report of County Agent Leland Bunch. Fifty-five youngsters in the county are owners of registered calves which are developing rapidly.

Farmers in the Whitesville community, Daviess county, are planning to hold a community fair which will include exhibits of various farm products and livestock produced in the community and a number of lectures on timely agricultural subjects, a report from County Agent J. W. Whitehouse states.

Allen county farmers, assisted by County Agent John A. Hunter, have organized a shipping association in order to provide facilities which will assist in marketing livestock products from the county.

Marion county farmers are completing plans for a barbecue meeting to be held July 27, according to a report of County Agent H. J. Childers. Scrub sires are declining in popularity with Wayne county farmers, according to a report of County Agent H. J. Hayes. A number of them have signed their willingness to co-operate in a campaign to eradicate such sires from the county. It is probable that the work will be undertaken in the near future.

CONGRESS APPROPRIATES A QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS FOR HORSE BREEDING.

Money To Be Spent Under Supervision of Army Officers To Raise More Thoroughbred Horses for Cavalry Purposes.

OTHER GOVERNMENTS SPEND MUCH MORE.

Realizing the necessity of government interest, supervision and participation in breeding of thoroughbred horses, if the United States is to take her rightful position with the other countries of the world, the United States Congress has made an appropriation of a quarter of a million dollars to be expended in horse breeding.

While this is a very small amount when compared with the millions of expenditure made by the governments of England, France, Italy and Spain in this work, it is being effectively used to enlarge the number of thoroughbred horses suitable for cavalry mounts.

In explaining the plans of the United States government for the breeding of more and better horses, Col. C. E. Hawkins, Quartermaster's Corps, United States Remount Service, says:

"The world war brought out the fact that the National Defense demands, not only thousands upon thousands of horses and mules, but horses and mules of good breeding. Quality and breeding in the horse and mule is what gives them the staying power in danger and emergency, as well as for the less spectacular, but not less important, service in connection with our agricultural and commercial pursuits. What is true in the man is true in the beast. Courage in the soldier we call morale. In either case the quality is that of the will to stay when threatened by the common instinct to falter which means failure and defeat.

"The United States is the great horse and mule market of the world. Our allies depended upon us for the major supply of their war horses and mules. Thousands upon thousands were sold to the British, French, Italian, Belgian, Greek and other governments. The supply that could be sold was limited only by the ships available for their transportation abroad, and by the fact that rations were naturally of the first import.

"The first cry from abroad was for men, then for foodstuffs to feed their millions of soldiers and our own men; next came the demand for munitions—the stuff that made the hellish fire that raked the enemy; his theatre of operations and his lines of communication. On the heels of the call for these necessities we had the one for the war horse and the war mule, in quantities never before approached.

"Automotive vehicles were used in great numbers. Yes, that is true, and it will be true in the future. But war and the horse and the mule continue to be inseparable. The great military migrations of the past—those, indeed, of civilization, itself—are so linked with the horse that his production and improvement may be said to have been coincident with them. Motive power has not killed the horse and mule industry. Every member of the species has a valuable and important place to fill, motive power to the contrary notwithstanding. The latter and the horses will go along together, each filling an important and useful sphere.

"The breeding of horses and mules, far from being abated, should be practiced in the spirit of the utmost optimism and confidence. True, the horse and mule market is upset. The demand, however, for every class will come again before the colts now bred mature. All our best informed horsemen, breeders and farmers recognize this fact and advise doubling our attention to the work of breeding.

"Meanwhile better horses and mules should be the aim of every breeder. We need better blood, more quality; hence, a more valuable animal. A well bred, sound animal, of good conformation and quality of any class, will always bring a high price and a handsome profit to the breeder. It is the scrub or ordinary animal that loses the breeder and farmer money. The scrub eats as much forage and takes as much care as the high class animal; and one has nothing at maturity. The progeny of high class, pure bred stallions, that have proved their courage, endurance and speed in competition, and selected farm mares, will bring the breeder an increasing profit as the time goes on.

"The Government is backing the production of these better horses and mules. This work is being accomplished by the War Department through the Remount Service, under the Quartermaster General of the U. S. Army.

"The last Congress appropriated a quarter of a million dollars to further these plans. The project also is being backed by an auxiliary society of the Remount Service, known as the American Remount Association, composed of army officers, civilians, breeders, farmers, ranchmen, horsemen, owners of race horses, drivers and riders, Kentucky breeders and farmers."

wagon, buggy, and harness and saddle manufacturers—in short, of almost all the representative organizations interested in the future of the horse and mule. The objects to be accomplished may be summarized as follows:

"To promote and improve the production of horses and mules.

"To stimulate the breeding of high class animals of the equine species, with a view to improving their blood lines and conformation, and thereby to enhance their usefulness and market value.

"To protect owners, users and breeders and dealers against unjust and unreasonable legislation.

"To gather, co-ordinate and disseminate data on breeding, feeding, stable management and care of animals.

"To promote and encourage horse shows, race and hunt meets, polo, horse fairs and riding and driving by means of competing for prizes and ribbons.

"To encourage the use of the horse commercially and for sport in healthy, outdoor exercises.

"To save the riding and driving horses from degeneration and extinction.

"To imbue our people with a patriotic understanding that the horse and mule is necessary for our National Defense.

"Our immediate concern is to save the riding and driving horse and high class race horse from extinction. We want to produce a truly American type of cavalry horse—a horse with breeding and quality, as well as bone and substance—a weight carrier and the best general purpose horse known—a horse that will weigh from 1,000 to 1,250 pounds, standing from fifteen hands, one inch to sixteen hands, tight made, with good gaits and action—a walk, trot, gallop horse that can carry weight and follow the hounds across country—that the family can drive to church and also one that can hold his own in hard work on the farm—a horse that can be used to advantage and economically any and everywhere, except in very heavy draft.

This type of horse has splendid looks, quality, action and vigor—a wonderful all-purpose horse for the farmer, and one that can be kept at a minimum cost. Almost every commercial and military use will be met by the progeny of this breeding scheme, dependent primarily upon the size, quality and blood lines of the mares used in breeding.

"Among the stallions to be placed throughout the United States this spring will be over one hundred head of HIGH CLASS REGISTERED THORO-BREDS, big horses with plenty of body, bone and substance. These stallions placed in the stud through Government agencies, will be available to farmers and breeders at a minimum fee. The Government does not expect to make money, but to make it possible and feasible for the farmer and breeder to get the service of a high class approved stallion for their good mares. The object is to produce animals of real value and use that will not only pay for their rearing, but bring a handsome profit when mature. We expect the progeny at maturity to make general purpose horses, cavalry horses, riding and driving horses, show horses, hunters, race horses, polo ponies, depending largely upon the mares selected for breeding and the care in rearing the colts; a high class horse, both for peace and war, a link in the chain of our National Defense. The colts will belong to the breeder. The Government will have no strings on them. The owner will be privileged to sell them to whomsoever he pleases at any time. However, the Government expects to depend upon this source for its supply of animals in times both of peace and war.

"The New York Jockey Club, I may add, has established a half-bred registry at Avon, New York, with Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth in charge. This makes it possible for the farmers and owners of these colts, which will be half-breds, to register same at a nominal fee of $2.00, which registration is strongly recommended, because, when the farmer or breeder desires to dispose of these colts, a better price will be paid by civilians for the registered colts than for those that are not registered. In addition to this, registration is necessary if any type or breed of horse is to be established and recognized. All necessary information in regard to this registration can be had by writing to Half-bred Registration Bureau, New York Jockey Club, Avon, New York.

"Plans for an organization similar to that in charge of Mrs. Wadsworth are now under way in the interests of of race horses, drivers and riders, Kentucky breeders and farmers."
